

Deutscher Akademischer Austausch Dienst
German Academic Exchange Service

„Falling Walls“- Science Slam 2017

- You are currently conducting research (in any field).
- You are able to explain your research in an easy way that is also comprehensible for non-specialists.
- You enjoy being on stage.
- You are able to speak freely.
- Maybe your English also is pretty good?
- You have a sense of humor.
- You have already earned a first university degree.

If you can check all the boxes above, this offer is for you!

The DAAD would like to invite you to participate in an international Science Slam competition.

Interested?

Contact Susanne Bandau (BSU FMO, Minsk, Leningradskaya 20; phone: +375-17-2095990 daad-bsu@yandex.by) or one of the other DAAD-lecturers in Belarus. He/she will provide you with further information.

Science Slam “Falling walls” – what is it all about?

More information: <http://falling-walls.com/lab>

A workshop preparing for a professional performance will take place at BSU, Minsk on Friday June 23rd 2017.

The Science Slam Competition with participants from all over Belarus will be held on the following day.

The winner of the Science Slam Competition in Belarus may have the opportunity to participate in the international finale in Berlin in fall 2017, if his/her performance is in English.

FALLING WALLS LAB 2017